Wanted: Warm clothes for the city's needy

Winter coming. Organizations asking public for donations of coats, mittens, socks and blankets

MORGAN MODJESKI
morgan.modjeski@metronews.ca

As the temperatures in Saskatoon continue to drop, organizations helping the city's most vulnerable say they're struggling to meet the rising demand for warm clothes.

Officials at Saskatoon's Friendship Inn said they're asking the public to bring forward lightly used clothes, like coats, hats and mittens, as the organization say the items are in short supply.

"Right now, I have absolutely nothing," Lynda Brazeau, executive director and CEO of the Friendship Inn, said on Wednesday.

"I have no gloves, I have no winter coats and I have no blankets."

She explained that for someone living on Saskatoon's streets, holding onto winter gear is a challenge as warmer clothes are sometimes stolen, traded or sold. However, she said a new coat could mean new hope for those living on the street.

"If they're able to come in here with nothing and leave with a warm coat, mitts and a toque, that's one thing that's taken off their plate that makes their life a little better," she said.

"Giving them a coat gives them a chance to continue their life."

The Saskatoon Food Bank and Learning Centre says they've been seeing an increase in demand since September, and despite the fact they constantly have donations coming into their clothing depot, there's a never-ending need for warm winter gear.

"We can never keep up with the demand," executive director Laurie O'Connor said Wednesday.

"As far as clothing, we can often meet the needs of the community, but with warm winter clothing, we struggle, as other organizations do, to have enough."

Please give

"We can never keep up with the demand."

WHO'S AFRAID OF THE BIG BAD HOUSE?

Adam Krutko and girlfriend Lyndsey Fernets have gone above and beyond with their home-based haunted house. A massive sandworm from the movie Beetlejuice serves as the entrance to the self-proclaimed Scariest House in Saskatoon. Located at 1402 5th Ave. N., the haunted house was built by the couple with help from family members over a three-month period. They say they're expecting more than 600 trick-or-treaters at Halloween. The house will remain open until Nov. 2 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Legislation

Wall wants to repeal law allowing for election of senators

Premier Brad Wall says the provincial government will soon repeal legislation to elect Senate nominees.

The law was passed in 2009 and allows for elections to choose names to be put forward to the prime minister for Senate consideration.

Wall says he told Prime Minister Stephen Harper in a meeting Tuesday in Ottawa that the province wants to get rid of the law.

The premier says he also told Harper that Saskatchewan is looking at a motion in the legislature that would call for the upper chamber to be abolished.

The premier used to advocate for Senate reform, but changed his mind earlier this year when the Senate scandal broke, saying he's come to believe reform is impossible.

Wall says the law could be repealed this fall with co-operation from the Opposition NDP.

The New Democrats said as early as last May that they wanted the province to scrap the legislation. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Father faces charges in son's shooting death

A Saskatchewan father is facing charges after his son was shot and killed near Prince Albert.

RCMP say Larry James McDougald, 66, is charged with second-degree murder, attempted murder and pointing a firearm.

Mounties say it appears the shooting stemmed from an ongoing property dispute.

They say Terry McDougald, 45, and two other men went to the older McDougald's rural home Tuesday to claim property when they were shot at.

No one else was hurt.

McDougald's next court date is Nov. 13.

Entertaining or degrading?

EMWF. The Extreme Midget Wrestling Federation has raised eyebrows and body slams in the U.S., and now it's coming here

JACOB MORGAN
jacob.morgan@metronews.ca

The highly divisive Extreme Midget Wrestling Federation will come to Canada for the first time on Nov. 16 and hold an event in Saskatoon. COURTESY EMWF

Some call it empowering. Others call it belittling.

The Extreme Midget Wrestling Federation (EMWF) was founded in Oklahoma four years ago and has gone on to sell out venues across the United States, including the Riviera Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, said creator and producer Skyler Ward.

"I was booking entertainment at nightclubs and I wasn't proud of what I was doing because I didn't feel like the clubs were really making money," said Ward. "So I started thinking, well, what has not been marketed? And it was midget wrestling."

Despite being labelled as degrading by the Little People of America organization, Ward said the EMWF continues to grow in popularity. On Saturday, Nov. 16, the controversial show will make its first Canadian appearance at the O'Brians Event Centre in Saskatoon.

Ward maintains that the EMWF seeks to be supportive rather than mean-spirited.

"Our show is not derogatory," he said. "These guys go from kids looking at them and pointing at them in the McDonald's, and then the next thing you know they're up in the ring and they're superstars."

Heidi Hurley, president of the Little People of Canada's Saskatchewan branch, said she has one main qualm with the event — and that's the use of the term "midget."

"I hate that word. I honestly do," said Hurley.

She said it's typically used as an offensive slur, which makes her unsure of the EMWF's motives.

"Some people might go to gawk and laugh, and others might go for the same reason they go to regular wrestling," she said.

Hurley added that before she makes up her mind on whether the EMWF is a circus attraction or a real opportunity for little people, she plans to attend the spectacle in Saskatoon for herself.

"If this is how they're putting supper on the table ... then good for them," she said. "But if it's degrading, I won't be staying long."

Cheeky! Embattled Mike Duffy stars in a new Senate song and dance

A radio station in P.E.I. has made a parody song poking fun at their senator Mike Duffy's recent speeches in the expenses scandal.

Remixing the popular song What Does the Fox Say? morning host Matt MacLeod of P.E.I.'s Hot 105.5 put together a spoof song called What Does the Duff Say?

The song uses clips from Duffy's Senate remarks such as, "I was ordered by the prime minister to pay the money back," as the melody and beat of the original song play in the background.

A voice chimes in as the chorus singing, "What does the Duff say?"

MacLeod borrowed clips from the radio station's newsroom to do the remix.

The station's program director, Myles MacKinnon, said P.E.I. has about 140,000 residents, for whom Duffy's expenses saga is "the best reality TV you can imagine."

"We're having a lot of fun with it. We know it's a serious thing, but our job is to have fun with it," MacKinnon said Wednesday.

The Fox (What Does the Fox Say?) is a dance-music video, above, by Norwegian duo Ylvis that has been viewed about 175 million times. YOUTUBE/SCREEN GRAB

Senators are looking at a motion that would see Duffy, Pamela Wallin and Patrick Brazeau suspended from the red chamber.

But a vote on the motion appears to have been put off until Friday.

Six sex assaults spark wave of fear on campus

Shock at UBC. RCMP major crimes section steps up security and says one man may be the culprit

Six sex assaults!

A wave of fear is rolling over the campus at the University of British Columbia, unnerving students, staff and the community .

And the attacks have resulted in an unprecedented police presence on the campus, said the facility's president.

Stephen Toope told a news conference that unlike many other inner-city universities, UBC is situated on a large amount of open space, requiring a different type of response to give people a sense of security.

Students walk on the campus Wednesday at the University of British Columbia — scene of a wave of sex assaults. DARRYL DYCK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

"This is one of the safest campuses in North America. There is not normally a climate of fear or of insecurity on the campus," he said.

RCMP's major crimes section has taken over the investigation and say one man is believed to be responsible for three attacks this month and similar incidents in April, May and September.

All the women were attacked while walking alone late at night on the campus.

An outside security company has been hired to bolster the university's own resources as volunteers have stepped in to patrol the campus, Toope said. Millions of dollars have been committed to upgrade lighting.

Phone-hacking a 'conspiracy'

News of the World.
Prosecutor opens the long-awaited trial by saying it's inconceivable top execs didn't know about eavesdropping

A prosecutor said Wednesday that there was "a conspiracy which involved a significant number of people" to hack phones at the Rupert Murdoch-owned News of the World, revealing that three senior journalists at the now-defunct newspaper have pleaded guilty to illegally eavesdropping on voicemails.

Opening the long-awaited hacking trial of former News of the World editors Rebekah Brooks, Andy Coulson and others, prosecution lawyer Andrew Edis said hacking and other illegal activity at the paper and its sister tabloid, The Sun, went on for a decade. He said it was inconceivable that the top executives didn't know about it.

"They were in charge of the purse strings," Edis said, adding that they signed off on illicit payments.

"Mrs. Brooks personally approved nearly 40,000 pounds for stories" to a senior defence official, Edis said.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Background

The trial stems from the revelation in 2011 that News of the World employees eavesdropped on the voicemails of celebrities, politicians, crime victims and others.

- The scandal led Murdoch to shut the 168-year-old newspaper and spurred wide-ranging criminal investigations.

Dance shakes its butt onto school's forbidden list

One Southern California high school has added twerking to its list of dances that are banned for students.

The Orange County Register reports Tuesday that administrators at Aliso Niguel High School decided the rump-busting dance is sexually suggestive and should no longer be allowed on campus or at dances.

Twerking now joins "freaking" and "grinding" as prohibited dances at the Orange County school. Those who break the rules could be ineligible for future dances for the remainder of the school year. Parents also will be notified.

WHAT'S NOT TO LOVE ABOUT THE SEAT?

HE SAYS

John Mazerolle
metronews.ca

I've bought new furniture all by myself for the first time, and I think it's safe to say after years as a stereotypical bachelor, I'm all grown up now. And not just a grown-up — a family man.

I'll explain.

All my previous big-ticket purchases have been nothing but big tickets (plane trips, concerts, hockey games), so I was a little intimidated when I started reading online advice about buying furniture. The tips said this was a Big Life Decision; it was all about strength and style and "what's most important is what's on the inside."

They made it sound like I was buying people — a brand-new family. This was disconcerting. If it was true, then my existing furniture had been a ragtag group of has-beens and ne'er-do-wells.

There was the sad little orphan coffee table, left over from my failed marriage. You could almost hear it coughing from the dust.

There were two yellow-green chairs that were still living in the past.

There was my $299 mattress, which had done its duty for a decade but had passed on some time ago. It received a martyr's funeral, carried out of the apartment on my shoulders while I sang its praises. I fired no weapons though, because the landlord doesn't like holes in the wall.

Most prominently, there was my love seat. You know those celebrities like Clint Eastwood and Dave Hodge where you think, "Geez, they were old when I was a kid." That was the love-seat, which was dug out of my dad's baby barn after spending a lifetime in my grandmother's house. It was already dead, really, but we Febrezed it back to life (defebrezulated?) and its elderly frame hunkers in my apartment still.

It's not a stately old maid either. It's more like the type of senior who tells you about that time she slept with Leonard Cohen, then coughs into a tissue and sticks it into her bra. The upper left corner is tearing. I guess that's bursitis.

Faced with this lot, I decided I would live the dream of so many and replace my family. I started with a new bookcase and a new bed, grabbing both from an adoption agency called Ikea.

The family looks really good, I think, and fits well into my life — partially because of my keen eye for this sort of thing, partially because I haven't taken them out of their boxes yet.

I've heard a lot of horror stories about rushing into family life, so I thought I'd build myself up to it. It's natural. The new bed should be created in nine months or so. You'll know when it happens. Expect lots of profile pics on Facebook.

'It looks like a UFO landed'

Sporting a mile-wide smile (actually more like four feet) and standing up to shoulder-height on most people, Kokol's cheery jack-o'-lantern comes in as one of British Columbia's biggest pumpkins.

Seven hundred watts of lighting have been installed and Kokol is ready for the big day.

"At nighttime, it's just an amazing glow. It looks like a UFO landed and it can been seen from up the block," he said.

Kokol got the gargantuan pumpkin from a grower in Langley, B.C. after it completed its career on the contest circuit, featuring in shows in Portland, Ore., and Cloverdale, B.C.

Performers from four different western Canadian Ukrainian dance groups rehearse for Razom 2. SIMON HIATT

Bringing people 2-gether

Dancing. Ballet master has mashed four distinct groups into one unit and the result has been the Razom 2 tour

BACKSTAGE PASS

The spectacle of watching the best Ukrainian dancers from across Canada come together and perform in one room is truly something to behold. But the first time different groups participating in the upcoming Razom 2 tour met, the reactions were more like what you might experience at a Grade 6 dance.

"You see that when everybody comes into the hall for the first time, everybody sort of goes to their own little corners and there's a nervousness in the room. But within a few hours you see that disappear and everybody's intermingling and talking and hugging. The camaraderie of dancing overcomes the shyness of individuals," said lead producer Darren Lemke

The tour will hit four cities this winter, starting in Saskatoon and Regina on Nov. 9 and 10. The show will feature dancers from those two cities as well as from Winnipeg and Calgary.

"Every group has their own style and approach to Ukrainian dancing, and you'd think people would butt heads or something, but we don't. Everyone has meshed so nicely and the energy level has been incredible," said dancer Ivanna Zwarych from Regina's Tavria Ensemble.

Saskatoon's Yevshan Ukrainian Folk Ballet ensemble didn't participate in the first Razom in 2009, which has made the process of preparing for this tour extra special for their dancers.

"Just to meet new dancers and work with different choreographers and instructors and try different styles of dancing has been really rewarding and challenging at the same time," said dancer Luba Wojcichowski of Yevshan.

The task of coordinating the four groups into one cohesive unit fell in large part to Yevshan's artistic director Vitali Sorokotiaguine. He was a ballet master in Ukraine before coming to Canada.

He admits the prospect was somewhat daunting initially.

"When the project was coming up, I couldn't believe that we could do this, but it's happening and it's amazing," Sorokotiaguine said. "Between the four groups we'll have up to one hundred people on stage at a time."

And as difficult as it has been choreographing their movements on the stage, just getting them all to the same place at the same time has been an even bigger challenge.

"Logistics is always a challenge but where there's a will there's a way," Lemke said. "It's worth it, this will be incredible, this is a once in a lifetime show."

Upcoming

Razom 2 – A Fusion of Ukrainian Dance will be held at TCU Place in Saskatoon Friday, Nov. 8. For tickets visit tcutickets.ca.

- What you need to know. The tour will continue the following night in Regina, for tickets visit conexusartscentre.ca.
- Tour. The series wraps up with a pair of shows in Calgary and Winnipeg in 2014.

Desperate housewife: Tori spells it out in sixth memoir — she's got a sex tape

Tori Spelling admits that there's a sex tape featuring her and husband Dean McDermott floating around out there, though it's been a couple of years since she's heard about it. According to Spelling's sixth memoir, Spelling It Like It Is, she and McDermott were looking to spice things up in 2009. "Dean said, 'We should tape ourselves having sex,'" she writes. "He had a little portable tripod, and he set up his video camera on it. Afterward, I checked my angles and they were good, so I allowed him to keep it." Apparently a former friend of the couple snatched it off their home computer and attempted to sell it two years later. "I was horrified," Spelling writes, explaining that they sent the man a cease and desist letter. "We never heard from him again, and the incident went away."

South Beach soccer? Becks to bring footie to Miami

David Beckham is reportedly very, very close to finalizing a deal to launch his own Major League Soccer franchise in Miami, according to Sports Illustrated. Sources say Beckham will pay $25 million to start the team and will look to raise hundreds of millions more to get everything up and running. "I think bringing an MLS team here to South Florida would be exciting," Beckham told CBS4 news over the summer. "I think Miami fans are very passionate about their sports and very passionate about winning." Miami did previously have an MLS team, the Miami Fusion, but that club shuttered in 2001 after only three seasons.

Lohan's sobriety = partying till the break of dawn

October apparently hasn't been an easy month for Lindsay Lohan's fledgling sobriety.

The troubled starlet has been spending a lot of time at bars, clubs and parties this month, and she's reportedly fallen off the wagon when it comes to booze, according to Star magazine.

"She was definitely drinking alcohol. She got increasingly sloppy as the hours went on," a source who spotted Lohan at a party in L.A. last week tells the magazine.

"At one point Lindsay was literally hanging onto a couple of her friends, like, they were holding her up."

She's also reportedly been sneaking vodka cocktails at bars in New York, and she partied till dawn at "an alcohol-fuelled bash" in Hollywood with Paris Hilton and Miley Cyrus recently.

"Lindsay arrived around 3 a.m. and was still there when dawn was breaking," a source says.

Chris Brown off to rehab for anger management

Chris Brown has checked himself into rehab for some anger management issues just a day after appearing in court over charges he assaulted a man outside a Washington, D.C., hotel. "Chris Brown has elected to enter a rehab facility," his rep says in a statement. "His goal is to gain focus and insight into his past and recent behaviour, enabling him to continue the pursuit of his life and his career from a healthier vantage point."

Yo, sweetie, Imma let you finish, but you know daddy's right

Four years is apparently enough time for some perspective, as Kanye West's reflections on his infamous 2009 interruption of Taylor Swift's MTV VMAs acceptance speech are apparently changing. "You know what? I would not want some crazy, drunk rock star cutting off my daughter," he tells Ryan Seacrest in a radio interview. "But my daughter would 100 per cent also be like, 'Yes, Beyoncé did have the best video.' That's what my daughter would do."

Take Kerr of yourself and your best will surely follow

She's starting with the model in the mirror. One of Australia's most magnificent imports spills her style, beauty and wellness tips

TINA CHADHA
Metro World News in NYC

Days before she walked the runway at Stella McCartney and Chanel's Spring 2014 Paris Fashion Week shows, we met up with Miranda Kerr at the chic rooftop of the Gramercy Park Hotel. There, the star of Mango's new grunge-inspired fall campaign talked about her fave looks from the '90s ("An oversized blazer, ankle boots and leather jacket with studs") and let us in on her style and beauty essentials.

"Be good to yourself and then you'll be able to give a lot more to your family, to your friends and to your work," says Miranda Kerr. CONTRIBUTED

You always look so well put together. How would you describe your look?
I try to go for classic and effortless and experiment a little bit depending on my mood. I like functional clothes especially, because now I'm a mom and go to the park. But when I go to work, I enjoy putting on a heel and embracing that feminine side.

How has your personal style changed since becoming a mom?
I keep it more practical now. It's all about fabrics that don't crease because I'm always holding (my son. Flynn) always wants to be in my arms or swinging on swings. I think comfort is important and wearing fabrics that make you feel good and accentuate the parts about yourself that you like. It's not necessarily about following a trend, but finding pieces that work with your body type.

You live in New York now. Talk to us about closet space.
It's not enough! But it's good because I've gotten rid of so much stuff I actually feel lighter. I have three little closets that I try to squeeze everything into. I've stripped it back to the basics and gave at least a room full of stuff to my friends and charity. I've also learned to maximize space. Now, I fold my jeans so they sit up, so when you open the drawer you see them.

If you were travelling and could only pack a small bag, what would go in?
A great pair of jeans that fit well, a blazer, a couple of T-shirts, a pair of loafers, a scarf and a hoodie — and one little black dress. I always pick up scarves at the airport, like airports in Asia, because it's not what you normally see. You'll find something different there.

You know how to rock a red lip. What are some of your beauty tips?
If I'm tired I just put on a red lip and sunglasses and it's a simple and effective way to uplift the face — just add a splash of colour. Sometimes I'll use a bit of the lip colour on my cheeks so I look a bit more alive — like the blood is pumping, the circulation is going. I also apply my KORA Organics lip balm to highlight my cheekbones. It makes you feel fresh.

You're a certified health coach. Any new healthy habits you've incorporated?
I have hot water and half a lemon in the morning. It's a very simple tip that cleanses the digestive system when you wake up and it really kick-starts your metabolism. Then I have a cold pressed green juice, like kale, spinach and celery with lemon, and then I have a smoothie that I make myself. I think it's really important to have a balance in life and fill your body with nutrients when and where you can, but then also know that you're a human being and you can't be too hard on yourself. I try to be 80 healthy and 20 per cent indulgent. I just don't believe in depriving yourself because life is short and we're here to enjoy it.

Getting new wood to age gracefully

DIY. Dark-roasted coffee, sandpaper and hammers can help make furniture appear beyond its years

Rehab Addict

- For more practical ideas, tune in to an all-new season of Rehab Addict, Tuesdays at 9 p.m. ET/PT beginning Nov. 19 on DIY Network Canada.

Winter is fast approaching, and adding wood elements to your decor will create a warm atmosphere in which to spend the upcoming cold months. While naturally distressed wood is extremely popular, it can be hard to find.

With some creativity and a few household items, it's easy to recreate this effect on brand new wood or recycled furniture.

Prepare the wood

If you're starting a project from scratch, look for pieces of lumber that have knots and unique markings. If remodelling an existing piece of furniture, make sure to sand all surfaces to remove paint or stain before beginning. This will bring out the wood's natural grain and prepare the surface for a fresh finish.

Channel some aggression

Collect hammers, screwdrivers, chains or anything else that could be used to add interesting dents and scratches to the wood.

Feel free to get creative by gently hammering the side of screws or stones into the wood. Always take extra precaution when using tools in a different way than their intended purpose and wear safety goggles to protect from any flying objects.

Before finishing, give the corners and edges a hammer. Straight edges are a dead giveaway the wood isn't naturally distressed.

Coffee break

There are many ways to stain wood to give it an aged look, but using dark-roasted coffee is a popular and inexpensive method. After applying a coat or two of coffee, feel free to add a layer of stain by brushing it on and then wiping off the excess. For the most natural look, gently sand the areas that would get worn down the fastest, like arm rests or desktops, to reveal more grain.

Applying a coat or two of coffee is an inexpensive way to help give new wood furniture an aged or distressed effect. ISTOCK

Seal the deal

Use a coat or two of clear finish to help seal in the colour.

All that's left to do is come up with a back story for your new antique piece of furniture.

Make like Five, Seven and Two, and get to painting — hearts, not roses

"If you make a mistake, don't lose your head," write Pierre A. Lamielle and Julie Van Rosendaal in Alice Eats of Five, Seven and Two's Painted-Red Sugar Cookies. "A little paint can fix it up and if that fails, brush up on your cookie-baking. It's more difficult to execute someone who has just given you cookies, so stack the deck in your favour..."

Ingredients

Cookies

- 1/3 cup (85 ml) butter, at room temperature
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) canola or other mild vegetable oil
- 3/4 cup (185 ml) sugar
- grated zest of a lemon
- 1 large egg
- 2 tsp (10 ml) vanilla
- 1 1/2 cups (375 ml) all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp (5 ml) baking powder
- 1/4 tsp (1 ml) salt

Paint

- 1 egg yolk
- a few drops red food colouring

To make the cookies

1. In a bowl, beat the butter, oil, sugar and lemon zest with an electric mixer until pale and light; add the egg and vanilla and beat for a minute, until smooth and blended.

2. In a small bowl, stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. Add to the sugar mixture and stir by hand or beat on low speed just until you have a soft dough. Shape the dough into a disc, wrap in plastic and refrigerate for half an hour.

3. When you're ready to bake, preheat the oven to 350 F (180 C). On a lightly floured surface, roll the dough out to about 1/8-inch (3 mm) thick. Cut the cookies into card shapes — or flowers, hearts, spades or a combination of shapes — and place 1 inch (2.5 cm) apart on a parchment-lined baking sheet.

Alice's advice

Egg-yolk cookie "paint" cooks dry and glossy and you have far more control with a paintbrush than an icing bag. Try making an entire palette of colours in small ramekins, adding a few drops of food colouring per egg yolk.

To make the paint

1. Put the egg yolk in a dish and add a few drops of food colouring. Mix with a fork until well blended. Use a small paintbrush to paint the unbaked cookies with the red "paint."

2. Bake for 14 minutes, until the cookies are pale golden around the edges and the paint is dry and glossy. Using a thin spatula, transfer to a wire rack.

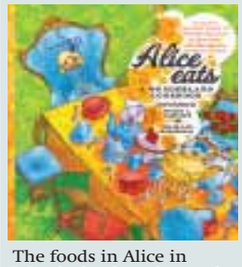
RECIPE EXCERPTED FROM ALICE EATS (WHITECAP BOOKS) BY PIERRE A. LAMIELLE AND JULIE VAN ROSENDAAL

Painted-Red Sugar Cookies

The queen's gardeners, Five, Seven and Two, painted roses red after accidently planting white ones. You'll paint two to three dozen cookies. JULIE VAN ROSENDAAL FROM ALICE EATS (WHITECAP BOOKS)

Cookbook of the Week

Alice's culinary Wonderland



The foods in Alice in Wonderland are instantly recognizable. In their book, Alice Eats: A Wonderland Cookbook, Pierre A. Lamielle and Julie Van Rosendaal answer questions like, "What would the treats at a Mad Hatter party taste like?"

Not only does the book feature recipes (Mock Turtle's Mock Turtle Soup, The Queen of Hearts' Jam Tarts and more), photos and illustrations but also the full text of the original Alice's Adventures in Wonderland by Lewis Carroll. METRO

Oh the horror! Blades go dull in 2nd period

WHL. Medicine Hat scares up 3 goals in middle frame to erase Saskatoon's 2-goal lead

On Wednesday

Tigers	Blades

The Blades celebrated Halloween a day early at Credit Union Centre Wednesday night, but had difficulty scaring up shots against those who came dressed as Tigers.

Medicine Hat outshot Saskatoon 43-23 en route to a 4-3 victory over the team they have dominated the past two post-seasons.

A turnover by the Blades in their own end led to the first scoring chance of the game as Medicine Hat's Blake Penner notched his fourth goal of the season 3:28 into the first.

Saskatoon's leading scorer Nikita Scherbak made it nine straight games with at least one point and did it in style, scoring back-to-back goals giving the Blades the lead.

Ryan Coghlan then added his third of the season to make it 3-1 after one.

But the Tigers completely dominated the second period; just 33 seconds in, Curtis Valk netted his eighth of the season on the power play. Less than a minute later, Tyler Lewington tied it up with his third and Medicine Hat took a lead into the third on Steven Owre's fifth goal of the year.

After taking turns controlling the first two periods, both teams were kept off the scoresheet in the third as Medicine Hat held on for the win.

Leafs cool Flames for 3rd straight win

James van Riemsdyk scored a pivotal short-handed goal and Jonathan Bernier made 41 saves Wednesday night as the Toronto Maple Leafs made it three wins in a row with a 4-2 victory over the Calgary Flames.

Late in the first period with the Flames down 1-0 but on the power play, van Riemsdyk carried the puck out of his own end, worked a give-and-go with Jay McClement and from 30 feet, snapped a shot over the glove of Karri Ramo.

Joffrey Lupul, Mason Raymond and Paul Ranger into an empty net — also shorthanded — rounded out the scoring for Toronto (10-4-0). Matt Stajan and David Jones scored for Calgary (5-5-2), which lost at home in regulation for the first time (3-1-1) this season. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Doping allegations

Hesjedal says he 'chose wrong path'

Star Canadian cyclist Ryder Hesjedal responded to doping allegations Wednesday, saying he "chose the wrong path" and made "mistakes."

Excerpts from a new book by former Danish rider Michael Rasmussen say Hesjedal was shown how to use performance-enhancing drugs at the start of his career.

"And even though those mistakes happened more than 10 years ago, and they were short-lived, it does not change the fact that I made them and I have lived with that and been sorry for it ever since," Hesjedal said in a statement.

Red Sox	Cardinals

There hasn't been a party like this in New England for nearly a century.

Turmoil to triumph. Worst to first.

David Ortiz and the Boston Red Sox, baseball's bearded wonders, capped their remarkable turnaround by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 6-1 in Game 6 on Wednesday night to win their third World Series championship in 10 seasons.

Shane Victorino, symbolic of these resilient Sox, returned from a stiff back and got Boston rolling with a three-run double off the Green Monster against rookie sensation Michael Wacha.

John Lackey became the first pitcher to start and win a World Series clincher for two different teams, allowing one run over 6 2/3 innings 11 years after his Game 7 victory as an Angels rookie in 2002.

With fans roaring on every pitch and cameras flashing, Koji Uehara struck out Matt Carpenter for the final out.

And the Red Sox didn't have to fly the trophy home. For the first time since Babe Ruth's team back in 1918, Boston won the title at Fenway Park. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
You don't need to do anything special today. Others will provide the entertainment, all you have to do is sit back and enjoy the good times. Some people may get emotional but you'll be in control at all times.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Social activities will go well today and if you visit a place you have never been before, you will fun. Relationships too are under excellent stars, growing deeper and stronger.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
Few people get more enjoyment out of their daily activities than you. But family and financial issues still need to be dealt with, and quickly. That means today, not next week.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
There is a great deal of tension in your life right now and with Mars and Pluto strong today, it could reach a peak. The good news is once that peak is reached, you'll accomplish something truly remarkable.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
Sometimes you are too trusting and other times you are not trusting enough. Today, you'll be inclined to give someone who doen't deserve it the benefit of the doubt. Make sure it's not your money at stake.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
With action planet Mars in your sign allied to Pluto, planet of transformation, you should be aiming to change your life for the better. What is the biggest change you could make?

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
You will surprise a few people today. Those who had written you off as too cautious will be astonished to see how dynamic and daring you are — and a bit scared by your level of passion.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
You will be on the move today and the people you meet and the things you see will open your mind to new possibilities. The way you look at the world will change completely over the next 24 hours. That's good.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
It is important that you focus on positive thoughts. If you let negativity to creep in, you'll convince yourself that life is against you when the universe really wants you to be happy.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Mars, planet of energy and ambition, will inspire you to do something beyond the call of duty. Whatever it is, you will make a great impression on people in positions of power.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Everyone is born with a purpose and you are no exception, so find out what it is and then commit yourself to seeing it through to the end. Don't hide in the background where you cannot be seen.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
You will be so excitable today but in a good way. It's as if you have swoken up to the fact that anything is possible and that what you desire most is the easiest thing in the world to possess. Get it! SALLY BROMPTON
